LAST NUMBER OF COURSE.

The last number in the Barton lecture course is scheduled for tomorrow, Thursday, evening in Seaver's hall and the attraction is the Eastern Concert company, a company of four star musicians and a reader. The company appeared here as the first number of the course last year and was considered by many the most pleasing number ever put on by a concert company here. It will be remembered that Carl Webster, the cellist was a great favorite here, as he is everywhere and to say that Belle Temple Priest is a good reader is putting it mild indeed. It was the unanimous verdict last year that we wanted them again in Barton. Those not holding course tickets can secure reserved seats at Pierce's for 35 cents and the regular admissions are 25 cents. A large attendance is assured.

LIMING THE SOIL

Interesting Facts for New England Farmers to Consider. More Yield on Same Acreage Is the Problem.

New England is old in cultivation, older, in fact, than most other portions of this continent, and therefore stands a good chance of being worn-out in some point or other. If any one of the points that go to make up a productive soil has not been properly attended to, or if any one of the several elements constituting a fertile soil has not been adequately supplied, the inevitable results are that after a long period of cropping, the soil is thrown out of balance or worn-out at some one or more points, letting the other and stronger productive points sink to a level with the weakest as far as their powers to produce are concerned. Undivided attention, especially in recent years, has been exercised in providing matter containing plant food to the soil, such as farm manures, commercial fertilizers, green manures, etc., in short, everything containing nitrogen, phosphoric acid, and potash, which is all well and good. But here all soil provision ends, particularly in New England. Other plant foods, not derived from the air, required for full development of the plants, are lime, magnesia, sulphur, iron, silicon, and manganese, all of which except lime, CONTINUED ON PAGE TWO

THE VILLAGE REPORT.

The Barton village report is in the hands of the printer and will be ready for distribution probably on Saturday.

The warning calls the annual meeting for 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, next, at Seaver's hall. The warning contains no articles of special interest unless it become which asks the voters of the corporation to decide whether or not they care to spend 15 percent or more of their highway money outside the village limits. Should they vote to spend 15 percent or more of the road money outside the village limits the voters of the corporation may vote for town road commissioners next March. Another article is to see if the village will vote to abolish the discounts now allowed on water rents, and still another is to see if the village will vote to build a hose house on Elm or Park street. The report will be a most pleasing one to all residents, as it shows a net reduction of the village debt of about $5500, about $4000 of this amount being in the electric department and $1500 in the water department.

The village attorney in his report states that the town of Charleston proposes to collect taxes on Barton's electric plant.

Methodist Church Notes.

every morning but one since March was ushered in. Everyone predicts that when a break does come it will come suddenly and for good, ending a cold but pleasant winter. The condition of the land must be most excellent for heavy crops, providing a normal spring and summer follow.

Snowshoeing, that most healthful of all sports, has been very popular in Barton this winter. The season begun with only two or three members, now there are twenty-three. It is exclusively for ladies. Last Saturday evening they took a tramp across the lake to Dr. Hastings' camp. Mr. and Mrs. Redfield had preceded them and they found an open fire burning warm and bright. After enjoying a very fine spread of good things to eat, they all returned home declaring it was the finest time yet.

A party of fourteen people from this village took a barge ride on Friday evening to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Guild of Coventry. They found a hearty welcome awaiting them and the evening was spent with music, games, as well as interesting little sketches of the places Mrs. Guild has recently visited in Europe. At eleven o'clock a delicious supper was served, at which maple sugar on snow was the principal feature. The cheers given for Mr. and Mrs. Guild upon leaving were both loud and sincere.

The L. T. L. met at the schoolhouse March 2. The opening song, "Some Glad Day," was followed by election of officers. Mary Urie, president; Archie Buswell, 1st vice president; Isabel Campbell, 2nd vice president; Ruth Gleason, treasurer; Martha Burdick, recording secretary; Bernard Ryan, corresponding secretary; Viva Potter, organist; Robert Dukeshire, Doris Whitchee, Lula Heath, flower mission committee; Mary Wilkinson, Leslie Elliot, Bernard Ryan, mercy work committee; Gladys Bradshaw, Lucile Hobson, Ruth Gleason, lookout committee. After the closing song, "Singing as We Go," the meeting adjourned to meet in two weeks.

Three years ago the fire wardens established a standard for chimneys built in this village. Until last summer no opposition of a serious nature was met with but when the wardens asked Noah Brooks, who was building a house last summer to bring the chimney he was putting in up to their standard, he refused. Consequently the wardens brought suit through the state. The wardens complained to the town grand juror, who prosecuted. The trial came off Thursday in F. W. Baldwin's office before Justice Hunt, and a jury called by the respondent, Brooks, Mr. Baldwin being attorney for Mr. Brooks and W. W. Reiden representing the state. The jury brought a verdict for the state, upholding the wardens in their stand for better chimneys.

Town meeting passed into history with just enough debate, discussion and balloting to make things spicy. The principal officers elected and the license vote will be found in another column of this paper with like information from other towns of the county. In electing a selectman to a ballot the vote stood, Cleveland 100, Turnbull 63, two scattering. For road commissioner Horatio Devereaux received 37, and E. C. Mil 33 votes; and for the other road commissioner the vote stood Geo. Robinson, 51; E. C. Miles two. The tax raised is $1.79 as against $2.09 last year and it was voted to take $750 from the general town fund to be expended for state work, which amount will be duplicated by the state, giving $1500 for state work. It was voted to re-lease for five years the present town clerk's quarters. The article to see if the town would vote to sell its town farm was passed over.

TROY VOTES LICENSE

Orleans County Goes to Wet Column and Lamolite to Dry. Caledonia and Orange Dry. Yes Vote Gains.

Yesterday's vote on the license question in the various cities and towns show a slight gain in the "yes" vote through the state and 29 towns are reported in the license column. Montpelier was the only city that swung from the dry to wet, and the majority was only 11. Richford swung into the wet column by two votes. Barre stayed dry by only one vote. P. W. Clement was elected mayor in Rutland and Roberts ousted Burke in Burlington. S. C. Green won in St. Albans by 58 votes and S. S. Ballard is elected mayor in Montpelier without opposition as was Mayor Mutch of Barre. In Orleans county, Troy again enters the license column. As the following table will show, the yes vote in Orleans County is larger than it was last year by a large per cent, while the no vote gain is very slight. The following table and telephone reports will show the yes and no vote and officers elected in the towns of Orleans county yesterday.

B. & M. GETS WELLS RIVER R. R.

President Mellen, of the New York, New Haven and Hartford and the Boston and Maine and other railroads, has secured control of the Montpelier and Wells River railroad. It is said as soon as arrangements can be completed the system will be a part of the B. & M. instead of being run separately with separate officers. The purchase also includes the Barre branch and the roads running to the granite quarries, and thus enters into the very heart of the granite section and will be able to take the granite business away from the Central Vermont.
